To The Voters Of Appomattox County

I am appreciative of the fact that I have for the third time received the Democratic Nomination for the position of County Treasurer. I shall endeavor to the best of my ability to merit your confidence by diligently performing the duties of this office in the future as I have tried to do in the past.

Appomattox County has the reputation of always polling a large vote, therefore, I hope that all eligible voters will turn out and cast their ballots on Tuesday November 5th, for all the nominees of the Democratic Party.

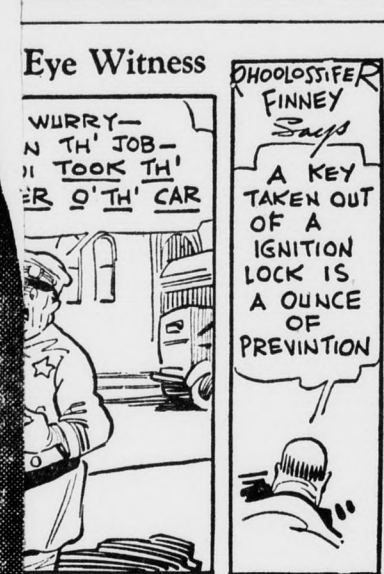

Respectfully yours,

R. L. BURKE.

Vitamins Needed by Farm Animals

By Prof. L. A. Maynard, New York State College of Agriculture—WNY Service.

Farm animals need certain vitamins as do people; and in dairy feeds vitamins A and D need special attention.

Animals on good pasture will always receive plenty of both vitamins, and the sunlight supplies vitamin D.

In barn feeding the needs of calves and young stock can be met by feeding a concentrate of the vitamins.

It is very poor hay must be fed, the addition of a concentrate of the vitamins to the ration may be desirable.

With milking machines the milk effort of feeds low in vitamins is to decrease the vitamins in the milk. Only in extreme situations is the feed so low as to affect milk production or the cow herself.

Without vitamin D the calf will suffer from rickets and children from bone disease.

Without vitamin A the calf will suffer from blindness and children from night blindness.

Without vitamin B the calf will suffer from skin disease and children from skin disease.

Without vitamin C the calf will suffer from scurvy and children from scurvy.

Without vitamin E the calf will suffer from sterility and children from sterility.

Without vitamin K the calf will suffer from hemorrhage and children from hemorrhage.

Without vitamin P the calf will suffer from poor circulation and children from poor circulation.

Without vitamin Q the calf will suffer from poor vision and children from poor vision.

Without vitamin R the calf will suffer from poor growth and children from poor growth.

Without vitamin S the calf will suffer from poor health and children from poor health.

Without vitamin T the calf will suffer from poor appetite and children from poor appetite.
